A. SIGNIFICANT ITEMS

LAS this week is completing the first phase of a program announced six months ago by C/LAS to create a management program applying to contract personnel that regularizes employment, use, development and advancement in accord with general principles and practices that should guide management of any group of employees with standards resembling those for staff employees. This first phase has consisted primarily of evaluating the qualifications and responsibilities pertaining to LAS activities against defined standards. Six separate panels evaluated twenty-three full and part-time employees. Next phase is to develop and institute a system for annual performance evaluations.

B. OTHER ACTIVITIES

1. of RQM met for 2½ hours with Dr. to continue moulding specifications for the pilot "orientation course for overseas service" for JOT's. Another moulding session is scheduled for 27 June. In addition to developing specifications, we are beginning to identify possible contributors and to develop a basic bibliography.

1. [] - BCS #2 finished on Friday 20 June with six students in regular attendance, the remaining two having been forced to drop out, one because of office pressures, the other (a dependent) because her husband had received his overseas orders. All the students expressed great satisfaction with the course and all did extremely well in it. As announced at the start, course content had been revised in an effort to meet the Helm's recommendations with by far the greater emphasis on the [] people. In the light of comments of the students the experiment was a considerable success. TK

2. [] gave an individual dependent briefing to the wife and ten-year old son of the new security officer for the [] station.
3. [] have worked out the final course schedule for the Moscow-Peking Axis - RS #1, and [] has concurred with minor changes on SIC's contribution. 25X1
- 25X1
4. [] each attended one of two lectures, given at FSI, on techniques of area analysis - a phase of applied political sociology. These lectures were held for the benefit of foreign service officers primarily engaged in political reporting and analysis. Much remains to be done, at FSI as well as in the academic world itself, on both the development and teaching of such techniques. One apparent weakness in the FSI presentation was the visiting lecturer's insufficient grasp of the area materials used to illustrate his techniques of analysis.
